Glossary

Term/Acronym	Definition
High-Level Design	The architecture diagram provides an overview of an entire system, identifying the main components that would be developed for the product and their interfaces.
Low-Level Design	It is a component-level design process that follows a step-by-step refinement process.
Bill of Materials	It is a list of the raw materials, sub-assemblies, intermediate assemblies, sub-components, parts, and the quantities of each needed to manufacture an end product.
DIY	It is an acronym for “Do it yourself” and is the method of building, modifying, or repairing things by oneself without the direct aid of professionals or certified experts. Academic research has described DIY as behaviors where "individuals use raw and semi-raw materials and parts to produce, transform, or reconstruct material possessions
